TWO PARSONS ARE GRANTED

None for the Eastern Connecticut Prisoners who Made Application—Six from this County.

Forty-five prisoners in the state prison at Waterbury petitioned the board of pardons at its session in Hartford, Monday, for clemency in their punishment. Among the number were five life convicts, one of whom, Peter Kelley of Bridgeport, was granted a pardon. Kelley was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his wife and at the hearing today it was shown that he had been out on parole for several years. Frank Gary of New Haven, sentenced in 1907 to serve twenty years for rape, was granted a full pardon. William Stringfellow, of Hartford, sentenced in 1907 to serve twenty years for rape, was allowed to leave the prison on parole. All other petitions were denied.

The following constituted the board: Gov. F. R. Weeks, Morris W. Seymour, Judge John M. Thayer, Lewis Sperry, and George H. Knight, and Judge Arthur Perkins. This was the first session attended by Governor Weeks, who presided, and by Dr. Perkins, who took the place of Gen. Edward Harland of Norwich.

New London County Cases.

John Blazinsky, who was sentenced May 15, 1908, to a term from three to five years for theft, asked for pardon on the ground that he was not guilty. State's Attorney Hull opposed the petition.

Albert E. E. Carpenter asked for a release from prison because he has a wife and two children who need his support. He was convicted September 1907 for breaking and entering. He intended to throw himself on the mercy of the court and that he did not want a trial.

George E. Main was sent to prison June 13, 1909, for one to three years for rape. He claims the possibility of error in his conviction. Lafayette F. Main, the prisoner's cousin, spoke in his behalf and presented a number of petitions for his discharge from prison. The signatures of the petition were: Senator William L. Allen of Ledyard, State's Attorney Hull stated that the prisoner had six or seven children, and the family is practically destitute.

John Kelly claimed that he was not guilty of forgery, of which he was convicted in 1908, and asked for pardon. The Rev. Mr. Prindle of the Baptist church of Preston spoke in behalf of Kelly. Mr. Prindle said that Kelly said he was innocent.

"Do you think that the board should pardon a man simply because he says he is innocent?" asked Judge Thayer.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

Committee Named to Prepare Float for Parade.

In the rooms in the Bill block on Monday afternoon, the regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held with a good attendance. The president, Mrs. A. C. Everett was elected secretary.

There was considerable discussion of plans for the anniversary of July 5th and 6th. Mrs. C. V. Shepard, Mrs. William P. Potter and Mrs. C. W. Kenyon were appointed the committee to prepare the float. At different points in the city the union will have tubs of ice water for the benefit of the thirsty. They will also have a rest room in their charge in the vestry of the Universalist church, where, among other conveniences, there will be cradles for babies.

Many details in connection with the celebration were talked over, but no other special meeting is to be held on Wednesday, June 23, for the naming of committees for the day.

AFTER 50 YEARS.

Governor Deceases That Law Has Been Violated.

For fifty years Joe Bealer has maintained a fish trap or weir off Morris Cove, New Haven, and during all those years has supplied much of the food for the brain that abounds in the vicinity of Yale university. Joe is now 74, and is the dean of the west coast fishing fraternity. Last week he learned that his business has run afoul of the great federal government down at Washington, his information coming in a formidable looking document notifying him that the maintenance of a fish weir on the recommendations of a fishery engineer is a crime and the owner liable to a fine of $500.

It is the fact that the state commission has licensed his weir each succeeding year.
